

Citizen science on flooding and waterlogg...

C1405 DJR Buenos Aires, Argentina

Description of citizen participation Citizens participate mainly in: 1) Defining scenarios and building knowledge related to flood and waterlogging risks in the area, through two types of interactive participatory workshops: institutional (including specific activities aimed at some of the stakeholders in relation to their risk management role) and inter-institutional (aimed at members of all participating organizations with different risk m...

water management

environmental educat

flooding

Weather