

Citizen science on technical and diagnostic...

Partido de Azul, Argentina

Description of citizen participation: The community offers valuable insight into the basin behavior, which is combined with the technical expertise of the research team to produce a conceptual model of the system operation. Both hydrometeorological (rainfall) and hydrological data (flows draining through the streets) must be recorded for this. Additionally, citizens collaborate to define pertinent location...

water management

climate resiliency

collaboration

data