

Self-acting water pump

1164 Kirkos, Ethiopia

Access to water is a challenge in rural areas, due to access to energy to supply water from the sources. Such pumping device has been used for nearly a century in rural indigenous community for lifting water to certain height, which is useful application for water pumping and supply to a community. This pump is powered by wind.

...

water supply

wind pump