

Citizen science on monitoring floods in ur...

4400 Salta, Argentina

Description of citizen participation: Citizens, firefighters, civil defense staff, and law enforcement personnel record videos of flash floods in urban rivers and basins. Then, the videos are sent to a team of scientists who will process the relevant data. The material can be sent through the project's website and social networks, or by contacting members of the GDT and sharing it by e-mail.

safety

water

collaboration

education

civic participation