

Connecting citizens with recycling companies a...

06720 Mexico City, Mexico

Through an app and a loyalty program for both citizens and recycling companies, Ecolana is a woman led initiative to promote recycling by connecting citizens, recycling companies, and businesses that promote reusing containers. They also generate a series of challenges and education materials that are available in their app and website.

water management

circular economy

recycling