

Ebb and flow system

Alta Verapaz, Guatemala

An ebb and flow system temporarily floods the growing trays with nutrient solution and then drains the nutrient solution back into the reservoir. The flow is triggered by a pump connected to a timer that is activated several times a day. When the timer stops running, the solution flows back into the reservoir.

water management

sustainable agricult

aquaponic